

Why not get your hat made to order?

You know that you can be fitted properly in a ready-made hat and you would not have it made to order just for the mere sake of spending a few extra dollars. You know that it would show poor judgment when there's no particular advantage to be gained.

Why not apply the same principle to the buying of clothes?

Clothcraft Clothes at $10 to $20 are ready for service and you can quickly find the one that fits your form and fancy. No waiting—no delay—no guessing how your suit will look when you put it on—you can see and try before you buy.

Almost any man can be fitted in Clothcraft Clothes with little or no alteration. We want to prove this to some of you men, who only think, you cannot be fitted in Clothcraft Ready-for-Service Clothes. Yes, today, we're ready.

soil building "the initial application of four tons per acre of ground limestone, with subsequent applications of two tons per acre every four years will make and maintain a limestone soil on every Southern farm; and this is the first great economic step to be taken in that positive soil enrichment which is needed to treble the average acre yield of the land now under cultivation and to restore to profitable agricultural use the vast areas of tillable land now lying neglected or agriculturally abandoned in most Southern States."

Limestone and legumes, in the opening of Dr. Hopkins, must constitute the foundation for corn and cattle in South. Most Southern soils, he points out, can be made to produce abundant crops of clover, alsike clover, sweet clover and alfalfa. These deep-rooting legumes are the best soil improving crops; they are the best crops to precede corn and they are among the most valuable crops in profitable livestock farming. Nothing is needed more in the South for the development of the livestock industry.

Dr. Hopkins quotes Prof. Geo. Roberts, of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, as saying that nearly all the cultivated soils of Kentucky are deficient in carbonate of lime. This, despite the fact that "there is an impression among many farmers that a soil derived from a limestone formation does not need the application of limestone." Various authorities are cited in showing the deficiency of lime in the soils of Southern States.

Dr. Hopkins is credited with having done much to increase the acre yield in Illinois. His pamphlet dealing with soil conditions in the South is well worth the study of Southern farmers.—Courier Journal.

Rockcastle county has sufficient limestone to furnish many states with all kinds of lime "raw" "cooked" or "ground" from the finest stone in our country. A recent analysis made by Chief chemist Alfred M. Peter of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, shows this stone to consist of 99 per cent calcium carbonate which is equivalent to 55 1/2 per cent calcium oxide or pure lime. Our county already has one outfit (a "pulverator") for grinding this stone at the Mt. Vernon Quarry, W. J. Sparks Co. Others will be put in commission. The Mt. Vernon Lime Co. will probably install a grinding machine as well as make agricultural lime. The mammoth lime plant of the Kentucky Portland Cement and Coal Co., located at Pine Hill makes plain, agricultural and hydrated lime for which they have a very large and increasing sale thruout this and other states. It is predicted that this ground stone and lime business will grow to vast proportions and prove the source of our county's principal income.

Limestone For Southern Soils

"A limestone country is a rich country." This quotation is the opening sentence in a pamphlet written by Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, until recently head of the Agricultural College of the University of Illinois. The title of the booklet is "Ground Limestone for Southern Soils."

Dr. Hopkins' pamphlet is being circulated by the Southern Settlement and Development Organization, which has its headquarters in Baltimore, and which, according to its peritatory announcement, explains its purposes in its name and is prohibited by its charter from operating at a profit. Incidentally this organization proclaims its belief that corn belt can be moved and ought to be moved to the South.

Dr. Hopkins says that every soil can be made a limestone soil; or, to quote his exact programme of
